

The accuracy and precision of the test were carefully checked by the laboratory. Since all analyses performed are DNA-based, in rare cases, rare genomic variations may affect the analyses and lead to deviating/incorrect results. If you believe that there is an error in the results, please contact our laboratory immediately for further evaluation.

sample report